Character is destiny. Character is that on which the destiny of a nation is built. If we want to build a great nation, we must try to train a large number of young men and women of character. Whether is public life or in student life, we cannot reach great heights if we are lacking in character. We cannot climb a mountain if the ground at our feet is shaky. We must all have humility. For whatever services we take up, we should not care for what we receive. We must know how much we can put into that service. The function of the Universities is not merely to send out technically competent men and women, but it is their duty to produce in them the quality of compassion, the quality which enables the individuals to treat one another in a truly democratic spirit. True education transcends academic knowledge, it shapes the individuals who are committed to alleviating the suffering of others. Ours is a great Country. We must represent the values taught by India from ancient times and whether in domestic affairs or in international affairs, we must adhere to certain standards. Mother India expects of us that our lives should be clean, noble and dedicated to selfless work.
